

WESTERLY LIQUOR CASE

Is Not Being Prosecuted by State Temperance League—
Chief Murphy, of Norwich, Leaves Warrant at Washington County Jail for Arrest of Horse Thief Fuller
—K. of C. Banquet—Liquor Raid in Charlestown.

The obstacles that prevented the issuing of a warrant for the arrest of a horse thief, who was now the proverbial red tape case, have been removed, and now the warrant can be issued. The proposed raid, probably where the present building was, was found infeasible, because of the absence of a street or alleyway on two sides, but the issuing of this requirement having been included in the public buildings bill, which has passed the house.

It is officially announced that the Rhode Island Temperance League has nothing to do with the Oliver E. Fuller case. The league has no objection to the statement that the league was not sending its prosecuting officer to push the case against Fuller. It is untrue. Assistant Superintendent Dutton of Westerly states that the league is not going to prosecute this case. He declares that the league knows nothing of this particular case, and that it is one that must be handled by the prosecuting officers of the town of Westerly. He had heard, however, that Town Solicitor Kingsley had called to his assistance Attorney Huddy of Providence, who had prosecuted cases for the league and was considered an authority on laws relating to the illegal sale of liquor in Rhode Island. He was not in the least surprised when the state league had any connection, and if Mr. Huddy assisted in the prosecution he would do so at the expense of the town of Westerly and not the Rhode Island State Temperance League.

Chief Murphy of the Norwich police force has left a warrant for the arrest of Albert Fuller, the horse thief, with Sheriff John B. Wilcox at the Washington County Jail, where Fuller is in default of bail for trial in the superior court. This is done to prevent the escape of Fuller from prosecution in Connecticut. In the bonds were furnished by police with the intention of forfeiture.

When Chief Murphy visited Westerly, he last Thursday with Deputy Driscoll, who identified Fuller as the fellow who got away with the Chapman team in 1905, he took back with him a slip of paper upon which the name of Fuller was written, and it was found to be identical with the signature of the man who took the Chapman team and which was written the day prior to the theft in Norwich. Chief Murphy has not only identified Fuller, but also identified the horse and the team. Fuller, and therefore swore out a warrant for his arrest as soon as he released by Rhode Island authorities. Chief Driscoll is receiving inquiries from police in sections of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Delaware and Connecticut, concerning the documents found in the possession of Fuller at the time of his arrest, and it is probable that others connected with Fuller in his horse thieving operations will be under arrest at an early date.

The fourth degree members of Narragansett council, Knights of Columbus observed Washington's birthday by giving a banquet in the evening in the Harvard hall, to the Knights of Columbus of Westerly, prospective members and ladies. The hall was handsomely decorated, the tables attractively arranged and the best of service was furnished.

Maurice W. Flynn was toastmaster. The first speaker was Rev. Peter McCarty in response to a toast to the Catholic Church. The other speeches and subjects were: Dr. M. H. Scanlon, The Knights of Columbus; State of Rhode Island; John W. P. Sweeney; George Washington; Dr. John M. O'Connell; The Ladies; Joseph T. Murphy. After the banquet there was dancing to music by Lamphere's orchestra. The committee or arrangements who successfully managed the enjoyable event included Maurice W. Flynn, Dr. John M. O'Connell, Eugene O'Neill, James Collins, Thomas Cowley, Eugene Driscoll, Dr. Michael H. Scanlon, Michael Higgins, Joseph T. Murphy and Judge John W. Sweeney.

George W. Cross, representing the town council of Charlestown, was deputized to put an end to the illegal sale of liquor in that town. Two warrants were sworn out in Westerly, one being against Edward Gilroy, whose place is about midway between Charlestown and Charlestown, and who once lived with a circus at the Strong Man, whose place is at Sand Point, below Charlestown, where it was reported that liquor was being sold. The warrants were placed with Deputy Sheriff Eugene W. Cross of Westerly and Constable Charles P. Buckstone of Charlestown and both members of the state police, the warrants being drawn under the direction of Assistant Attorney General Harry P. Cross.

Sheriff Cross and assistants went to the Gilroy place. A thorough search was made of the house, but no liquor was found. In the cellar of an old house that had been burned

Marriage at St. Edward's—Fire Caused by Defective Electric Wiring.

John Bury, employed in the New York office of the Warren Woolen Co., has been spending a few days in town. Carl Wood and Miss Adelia Sherman were married at St. Edward's church Monday morning by the Rev. P. J. O'Neill.

A small fire in the house of John E. Hancock, on Prospect street, broke out Wednesday evening about 8:30 Sunday evening. The fire was caused by a defective electric wire. The fire was out before the hose company arrived, and the damage was slight.

There will be services in St. Edward's church Wednesday morning and Sunday afternoon. The subject of the conference was the adoption of some method of the trolley company to lessen the danger of collisions between cars of the company and apparatus of the fire department on the way to a fire. The conference was the result primarily of the collision last week between the hose wagon of Company 4 and a trolley car at the corner of Grand avenue and Hamilton street, which resulted in the killing of one of the horses of the hose wagon.

The trolley officials expressed a strong desire to do whatever was possible to lessen the danger at bad crossings and an amicable settlement was reached which it is thought will do considerably to make the runs of fire apparatus the less dangerous in this line at least.

Four corners have been designated on approaching which the cars of the trolley company must be brought under complete control and be slowed down so that they can be stopped on the instant.
